GEN. MANGIN'S ARMY CAPTURE 500 CANNON OF LARGE CALIBER

Foch's Fighters Also Take 500 Trench Mortars in Fighting Along Crise River--Many German 77 Millimetre Guns Taken With 1,500,000 77-Millimetre Shells--Each Day Add to Booty Captured--40,000 Prisoners Taken Since Crown Prince Began His Retreat

Retreat Across Aisne Would Require More Troops to Hold Line than if Enemy Remains Where He Now is--River, However Would be Most Dangerous in Rear of Enemy

Paris, Aug. 5.—Each day adds to the booty captured by the Allies. It will be impossible to take full stock for some time but the booty includes a considerable number of 77 millimetre guns many of them were found in the depths of the woods of Arcy and Tournelle and the forest of Fere. The number of 77 millimetre shells salvaged up to the present totals 1,500,000.

CAPTURES 500 CANNON

Paris, Aug. 5.—Gen. Mangin's army captured 500 cannon and 500 trench mortars during the fighting along the Crise river last Friday, says the Petit Parisien.

GERMANS LOSE 40,000 PRISONERS

London, Aug. 5.—Since the crown prince began his retreat his armies have fallen back 20 miles and lost 40,000 prisoners. The present German position is nearly a straight line between Solons and Rheims. The latter town is still surrounded by the enemy on three sides, though the latest successes have relieved the pressure east of the city. The enemy requires fewer divisions to defend this line than if he retreated across the Aisne, whose many windings would necessitate large bodies of troops to defend them.

The Aisne, however, would be most dangerous in the rear of a beaten army, and indications are that the enemy will continue his retirement north of the Aisne, as even this natural rampart has been jeopardized by the French bridgeheads at Solons and its suburb, St. Vaast, the latter commanding the whole sharp bend of the river east of the city.

HOW BRITISH TRAPPED ONE GERMAN U-BOAT

THRILLING STORY OF FIGHT BETWEEN BRITISH DECOY SHIP AND SUBMARINE

London, Aug. 5.—A thrilling story of a fight between a British decoy ship and a German submarine was told by Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the admiralty, at a weekly concert held for the American troops at the Palace Theatre tonight. He explained that the Germans now know about the decoy ship and it is needless to withhold the story longer.

The decoy known as "550" had the appearance of a dingy color with an undisciplined looking crew, which was suitably attired, he said. This ship sailed in the Atlantic under command and finally sighted a German submarine. The decoy turned and ran away, but the submarine overhauled her and opened fire. Some of the German shells fell on the decoy deck and members of the crew were wounded and killed. The flight of the decoy continued and she signalled for help. An hour and a half later the submarine drew nearer. In the meantime the decoys decks had been set on fire, and the captain knew that her magazine would soon explode. In fact, the

SEARGENT GIBBONS SAYS WE MUST DO MORE THAN "OUR BIT"

Don't say any more, "I must do my bit," says Sergeant Gibbons of the Canadian overseas forces, who will speak here at Chautauque tonight. "That phrase," he exclaims, "is worn out. It isn't the thing to say any more. The thing to say is, 'I'll do my best.'"

Sergeant Gibbons is a returned exchange prisoner from a German military camp where he spent seven months.

In a recent interview the gallant Canadian officer discussed at some length the importance of speeding up the support behind the lines, dwelling with particular emphasis upon the work of the Red Cross, Y.M.C.A., and affiliated relief organizations.

"It isn't the fighting," he said, "that is the worst thing the boys have to go up against over there. It is the wounds the long internments in the hospitals, the pain, the weakness and sickness that goes with it—the waiting until the wounds heal. And the Red Cross is working with a million hands to help them. It needs more hands to work. It never can have too many. It wants not men and women doing their best, but men and women doing their best. It is the Red Cross that helps to bring the wounded back home to their loved ones."

Sergeant Gibbons gratefully brands as pro-German lies all stories derogatory to the work of both the Red Cross and the Y.M.C.A., stating that "these organizations are of just as much force in winning the war as the boys in the trenches."

Sergeant Gibbons enlisted the day after England declared war on Germany and joined the Third Ontario Battalion of the first division of Canadian troops to sail for France. He saw active fighting on the front, was severely wounded and captured by the Germans, all of which he will tell in his thrilling lecture tonight at Chautauque.

explosion came in a short time, and sent one of her guns hurtling through the air. The submarine had now swung round in front of the decoy. The captain of the latter signalled to a man of war which had been keeping below the horizon and then unmasked the forward gun of the decoy and heavily shelled the submarine. The projectile tore away the enemy's conning tower and another hit the hull. She sank after the fight had lasted for five hours.

The warship which had been keeping out of sight hurried up and rescued the crew of the decoy.

"There is no longer any need of secrecy," continued Sir Eric. "Admiral Sims and I have more ways than one of trapping submarines."

LABOR TO VOTE ON EXPULSION OF B.C. AGITATORS

AGREEMENT REACHED IN VANCOUVER BETWEEN RETURNED VETERANS AND WORKERS

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 4.—Organized labor in Vancouver is to vote on the proposed removal from office in the Trades and Labor Council and exit from the province of British Columbia of seven labor leaders—John Kavanagh, George Thomas, J. H. Cotterill, Joseph Taylor, V. B. Midgley and W. A. Pritchard and Winch.

This is the result of conferences held last afternoon and evening between committees representing the longshoremen and the returned soldiers, with Mayor Gale as mediator, following disturbances which arose over the 24-hour strike called by the Trades and Labor Council and the Metal Trades Council as a protest against the killing of Albert Goodwin, a prominent labor man, by a Dominion policeman, who was attempting to effect his arrest as a draft evader.

The longshoremen agreed to the proposal, and will return to work at once. They were willing to work yesterday afternoon, but the owners of the vessels in port had closed the wharves.

The rank and file of the local unions are to be asked to vote on two questions. Do they approve of the calling of the 24-hour holiday; and, would they remove from office and advocate the removal from the province of the seven men on the soldier's black list. The vote is to be taken a week from Monday.

No trouble arose on the streets Saturday night and it is thought that the rioting is at an end, for the time being at least. There were minor disturbances in the vicinity of the longshoremen's hall in the afternoon, but no serious injuries were inflicted.

CANADA HAS EARNED MORE THAN ENTIRE COST OF WAR TO DATE

VERY INTERESTING STATEMENT ON FINANCIAL CONDITIONS BY THE HON. W. A. WHITE, MINISTER OF FINANCE FOR DOMINION

Toronto, Aug. 5.—Canada is earning at home the money she is spending on the war and owing to her agricultural and other natural resources, successfully worked and ably directed, has been able as a nation not only to earn the entire cost of the war to date but to make a very large national increase in wealth as well. In a review of Canada's excellent financial position at present, coupled with a note of two of caution for the future, Sir Thomas White, minister of finance, sets forth the above facts in a statement given out today to the Canadian Press Limited.

Sir Thomas further announces the probability that before the next big war loan is issued for subscription, securities of the last Victory loan issue will stand well above their original cost.

July 25th, 1918.

Dear Mrs. Walker.—Your letter of July 21st, received, and I enclose herewith receipt No. 7796, for Fifty dollars and fifty cents ($55.00), $20.00 on account of merchandise, 30c for tags, $25.00 a donation to our Prisoners of War Fund and $50.00 a contribution to France's Day.

We are delighted to receive this latter gift as it will help to swell the funds of the French Red Cross, which is possibly the most deserving object for which any appeal is made. Will you please thank all those generous contributors who have made possible such a welcome gift.

We note that you are sending two boxes of supplies and will be glad to receive these which will be acknowledged in due course.

We also note that the Ridgewood and Antler Hill districts are working as auxiliaries to the Penhold Branch. We enclose herewith copies of a circular which we would ask you to forward to these auxiliaries.

We are delighted to know that you have started to collect scrap iron. Many of our branches are becoming energetic in this direction and we are sure that you will be successful. We note that you have not yet heard from your local member in regard to the effort to raise funds for the Red Cross. There is no reason why you should not communicate with him on this subject if you wish to do so. In the meantime I am enclosing herewith a sample of the cards which are to be hung in the windows and which may be given to all those who subscribe $2.00 to the funds of the society. It is intended to take the place of the Membership Card which you have been issuing hitherto. If you care to have us send you some of these we will be very glad to do so.

Hospital Ship Loaded With Wounded Soldiers is Sunk

Number of Dead Estimated at From 105 to 130, and Includes Several Women Nurses

A British Port, Saturday, Aug. 3.—The torpedoing early this morning of the British ship Warilda was one of the most harrowing disasters in the history of submarine warfare. The number of dead is variously estimated from 105 to 130 and upward, and includes several women nurses.

The ship carried six hundred sick and wounded. Among them were seven Americans, two officers and five enlisted men, all of whom have been accounted for except one, a private, who was found floating in the sea.

There were about 89 nurses and members of the voluntary aid department and the crew comprised about 200 men.

More than 550 survivors brought her shortly after six o'clock, were given first aid treatment, food and clothing. The patients were placed aboard special trains, which had been waiting to receive them and sent to hospitals in various parts of the country. The torpedo struck the after part of the engine room, killing the third engineer and two other members of the engine room force. The dynamo was destroyed, plunging the vessel in darkness.

Just over the dynamo was the wardroom, which contained more than 100 patients. Most of these were killed outright by the explosion and the others, many of whom had been fresh injured by the torpedo, found themselves trapped. It was impossible for outside aid to reach them and all, except a few who jumped overboard and were picked up, perished. This part of the ship quickly settled and water flooded the wardroom, drowning the men engaged there.

STORIES OF FEARFUL STRUGGLE

Stories of the fearful struggle in the darkness to rescue the helpless invalids are told by the survivors. The ship remained afloat more than two hours, but for a great part of the time continued under headway because the engines could not be stopped. This condition greatly hampered the rescue work. In addition, three or four boats were smashed while being lowered, throwing their occupants into the sea.

After the soldier patients and the nurses testify to the heroic measures of officers and crew. Notwithstanding the excitement and confusion, which beset the darkness, the darkness, the crew, under the mastery direction of the officers, went coolly and methodically about the difficult task of bringing the sick and wounded up on deck. As many as could be handled in this manner were placed in slings and lowered to the escorting destroyers, which by wounded seamen in the rough water managed to work in close enough to the sinking ship to take off men by lowering ropes.

MORALE OF WOUNDED

The morale of the wounded, lying on deck waiting to be taken off, is described by members of the crew as "too fine for words." They never complained and they never urged the rescue.

The less seriously disabled assisted their more unfortunate mates to go first. Women were placed in the first boats lowered, notwithstanding the protests that they should not precede the patients. One boat, containing six women, was thrown against an escorting destroyer, and the women, being once taken, the tendency was for her to go further. His decision is regarded in many quarters as a final break with the old Liberalism, but old party names are largely dying here.

LOYD GEORGE—UNIONIST

Significantly enough the London correspondent of the Yorkshire Post states the Unionist Party has been considering the continuation of Lloyd George's leadership after the general election. It is willing to continue to support him provided he gives an assurance of no home rule bill until after the war, imperial preference to have preference over every other project in the reconstruction programme.

The Times urges that a new economic policy shall be immediately adopted. "Economic measures against Germany are measures of war. Unless they are to be taken as measures of war, as part of the great task of convincing Germany that her military aims before and during the war have been a fatal mistake it may prove to be too late to attempt to put them in force during the transition period after peace."

URGES PREFERENCE

The Morning Post urges that England can hardly expect to continue to enjoy the advantages of the alien hunter and numerous other indications which have told us of his gradually slipping down slope through opportunity to reaction clambering and others before him dreamed of national parties on popular opposition lines. It's a very old story which has always told now had the same ending, which is the absorption of the dreamer's schemes into the one true fold of the Tory party. So it will be with Lloyd George and any other Liberals who follow him.

SIBERIANS WILL FIGHT BOLSHEVIKI

PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT TO DECLARE WAR ON SOVIETS IN FEW DAYS.

London, August 5.—The semi-official Russian newspaper Pravda and Ivestia declare that the provisional government of Siberia intends formally to declare war on the Soviet government within a few days, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen. The Official (Siberian) government, it is added, has informed all neutral and Allied powers of the establishment of an independent Siberian government.

MAKE POSITION PLAIN.

Amsterdam, Aug. 5.—The entente diplomatic representatives in Russia, before leaving Volodga for Kandalaksha, made known the attitude of their government according to the Russian newspaper Pravda, as quoted by German newspapers.

They declared that the allies did not desire to maintain any sort of connection with the Soviet government so long as that government was "supporting" the German junker power on Russian soil" as was within public knowledge, the newspaper reports.

our own advantage. Canada is not a savior for our bounty. On the contrary she is a very strong industrial position for the producer and possesses enormous wealth. We can take it or leave it. There it lies for us to pick up. If we refuse it, Canada will not complain; it will be for us to regret when it is too late."

CHRONICLE OPPOSES

The Chronicle declares that under existing circumstances it was a mistake for ministers to let Walter Long break his silence and express a league of nations is reconcilable with a spirit that inspires a protective tariff. They are utterly irreconcilable, and we have to choose either one or the other.

TAKES SAME VIEW.

The Westminster Gazette takes the same view and maintains the premier's declaration means he has finally thrown in his lot with the tariff reform party and proposes now to come forward as their leader.

"This consideration belongs to domestic politics rather than imperial politics. That conversion is in no way a surprise as it follows logically on his surrender to the alien hunter and numerous other indications which have told us of his gradually slipping down slope through opportunity to reaction clambering and others before him dreamed of national parties on popular opposition lines. It's a very old story which has always told now had the same ending, which is the absorption of the dreamer's schemes into the one true fold of the Tory party. THE PLANTING OF TREES
AND BEAUTIFYING
OF THE FARM HOME

The meeting held last Thursday week of the Women's Institute and Red Cross Workers was well attended and the splendid reading on "Tree Planting and Beautifying of the Home" by Mrs. G. Lowe, was very much appreciated, and it was the general opinion that the reading should be put into the hands of those who were unable to be present might have the benefit of them.

"I think if there is one time more than any other when we appreciate trees, it is during these scorching hot days. How very pleasant it is to have their delightful shade, where we may get our work done. When the day is at its hottest, and sit and read or sew or knit as the fancy strikes us. Why? There is soothing, cooling freshness even the sound of their leaves; to say nothing of the sweet bird life they shelter, and the happy little hearts give off their thanks in a ripple of silver music."

Surely you all like trees! and what woman is there who will get up and say she doesn't like flowers? I can not imagine such a woman. And we have found out that, though most men are often inclined to make light of the efforts of their wives to raise a few "posies" they all, almost without exception are very pleased to see the said "posies" when they are in bloom. And I am sure that, if the lady would go all at it in the right way, she could very often rescue a little very valuable help from the men-folks towards beautifying the home. Outside of plowing and working the land, however, there is very little work but what a woman can manage very easily—if she wants to.

If you have a natural grove near, or around your house and buildings, you are a very fortunate person, indeed, and it will take very little labor to make a few flower beds and borders and so have a very pretty place. So many people, however, have no shelter of any kind, and what forlorn, wind-swept places they look, even though they have a row of trees. I know of one such farmstead that was changed from a barren back to a veritable little paradise all in about six short seasons. Start in to beautify your home now, live or six years slip around very quickly on a farm.

In the first place decide where you want your trees; shelter-belt to the windward of the house and buildings, you want a few rows around your front lawn, and a clump here and there for picturesque; also, don't forget a row on each side of the house. If you want a few rows around your front lawn, and a clump here and there for picturesque; also, don't forget a row on each side of the house. INDIGESTION AND CONSTIPATION

Quickly Relieved By
"Fruit-a-lives"

Rochester, N.Y.
"I suffered for many years with Indigestion and Constipation. A neighbor advised me to try "Fruit-a-lives". I did so and to the surprise of my doctor, I began to improve and he advised me to go on with "Fruit-a-lives".

"I consider that I owe my life to "Fruit-a-lives" and I want to say to those who suffer from Indigestion, Constipation or Headaches—try
"Fruit-a-lives" and you will get well!"

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c.

Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

"Freeze back." If not cultivated, the ground dries out more, and the young shoots of the trees stop growing and sort of mature as it were, and are much harder.

Trees, alone, will make a pretty home, especially if you keep the grass mowed short and clipped around the borders.

But there is nothing to hinder any woman having a few flowers, too.
Just a few, well cared for are better than too many.

There are so many varieties, and so many tastes in flowers that a person almost does as well to follow their own experience and choice.

There are some good perennials, however, that I should like to mention.
They have all proved quite handy for the Street Wilm and the pansy—dear old-fashioned flowers that are hard to beat. The pansy does very well here, and if well enriched and watered (in dry seasons), gives a good show of bloom early in the summer. Then there is the Icelandic
poppy, Larkspur, Canterbury Bell, Columbine and several others. But lastly there is the Oriental Poppy, with its immense flaming flowers, and the roots you positively cannot kill.

Animals have their place, too, coming on after most of the perennials are over. Sweet Peas, Petunias, Candytuff, California Poppy, Mignonette, Phlox and Double Poppies. I must remind here that the Petunias and Phlox will be among the last flowers of the summer, blooming long after the first frost. Virginia Stocks are the for the home, with their profuse bloom of delicate pink and white.

As climbers, perhaps the hop is the most permanent, but Wild Cucumber vine is a very quick grower and covers an amazing space in a short time. Sow your seeds this fall, however, as they require the winter chill to break the above ground part and beans are also a good old-fashioned climber and are very pretty, too.

I have not mentioned small fruit trees because they hardly come under my present subject. The place they beautify is the farm table, which,
after all, is a great recommendation.
I have also seen my current patch clustered over with hops, red fruit, and, looking at it with a housewife's eye, no doubt, I thought it was quite beautiful, too.

In conclusion, I will say, I hope all who need tree protection and beauty will act on my advice and start now.
As for my experience, I, one season helped to plant, care for, and water about 1,300 trees and cuttings. Among them were: Native Spruce and Poplar, Cottonwood, Man, Maple, Ash, Russian
Spiral, Golden Leaf Willow, Caragana, Silver Willow, Lilac, and several varieties of Currants.

We considered all the work we put on them repaid a thousand times by the pleasure they gave us as long as we remained on the place; besides making a mere house a delightful home, to which we can always look back with pleasant memories.

A. H. LOWE.

P.S.—Since writing the foregoing I have been corrected on the time required to bring trees from the nursery to plant. If you apply in the winter of 1919 you will not receive your trees till 1920. However, that need not hinder you getting your land ready and planting your native trees next spring.
There is no charge whatever for these government trees, and Mr. Ross, the superintendent, is very obliging.

If any of you care to get caragana seed, I have trees at home bearing quantities of it, and will only be too pleased to let you have all you want.

Tune: "There's a Long, Long Trail," There's a brow with blood drops oozing
With each heart throbs strong;
There are moans, unuttered anguish
Held by will sublime!
There's a voice of human sorrow,
And the love of a great heart divine.

Chorus:
There's a long, long trail a-winding
From the manger to the Cross,
And the Christ who goes before us
Reckoned "all but loss."
There's for you a long trail winding,
Tis the trail of sacrifice!
Will you take this trail with Jesus,
Or will earth's brief joys suffice?

Blended in that cry submissive,
"Father not my will."
Is the words salvation purchased,
Though there's Calvary still!
Yet the "Shadow" power enthalls
Him,
He must drink life's wine,
And the shrinking human body
But may open up joy's highway,
Making crushed hearts sing.
For the sorrows are the "grippe" spears,
In the shell that forms the pearl,
And the shining, sturdy gates stand open.
To a blood purged suffering world.

Is it just domestic sorrow?
Is the world thy home?
Can you take the trail that windeth
Where deep shadows come?
Hear the faint, suffering people
Roof enough to cover?
Jesus points to all earth's anguish,
Then just utters, "Follow Me!"

LONGER THE WAR WORSE FOR HUNS SAYS LLOYD GEORGE

ECONOMIC TERMS IMPOSED ON THE FOE WILL BE ALL THE STERNER

London, August 1.—"No man should boast until the battle is won. That all men who know are pleased at the way it is going."

Premier Lloyd George thus commented in addressing a deputation of 200 members of the National Union of Manufacturers which met yesterday for a discussion of after the war commercial problems.

"We must necessarily, in whatever policy we proclaim," said the premier, "keep in touch and be in complete accord first with our dominions and second with our Allies. There is a good deal of discussion about a league of nations. I am certainly one of those who believe in it. But there are two leagues of nations already—the British Empire and the Great Alliance against the Central Powers."

Referring to the Paris resolutions, he said:

"Up to the present time America has expressed no opinion upon them, and it is vitally important that the policy of America and that of this country should be in complete agreement on economic as well as other problems. An agreement among the Allies means that the economic fate of the world will be in the hands of the great Allied powers federated together at present."

After discussing the necessity of promoting after war industries essential to the country, economic and military, the premier added:

"The longer the war lasts the sterner must be the economic terms we impose upon the foe. I think the sooner he realizes that the better. He is fighting in order to impose his own economic terms on the Allies. He will never succeed in doing so."

CONTROL OF WAR MATERIAL

Mr. Lloyd George said that among the greatest difficulties after the war would be the questions of raw materials and transport which would require a most complete understanding with Great Britain's allies and dominions, because "it is most important that you should carry with you the people who contributed with you to the common sacrifices."

The premier agreeing that the existing system of control could not continue after the war, said:

"All the same, don't suppose that the German has won from combination. Let us learn our lesson whenever they come—even from the Germans."

While agreeing that interference with trade and industry must disappear after the war, Mr. Lloyd George said there must be exceptions during the transition period. Government interference to a considerable extent would be needed to get raw material and transport, he said, and in order to execute contracts for abroad. "I think we ought to see that the people who have been fighting for us should be seen to reap the benefit of the fighting is over," the premier added.

Andrew Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchequer, followed the premier in a brief speech, in which he expressed general agreement with Lloyd George. The chancellor pointed out that some control of raw materials was needed after the war, in order to prevent our enemies from organizing a new war against them. He also emphasized that, as a result of the war, so far as the present British government was concerned, the principle "that we are one empire and that there shall be preference within that empire is established."

LUDENDORFF AND HINDENBURG MAKE OBJECTIONS TO KAISER

CROWN PRINCE'S STRATEGY IS OBJECTED TO

London, August 1.—Extraordinary disclosures apparently confirming the rumors of dissension among the headquarters arising out of the crown prince's disastrous attack are published in the newspaper Tages Zeitung, of Essen, the substance of which is that at a council of war, held in the presence of the Kaiser, the crown prince was severely criticized by Ludendorff, and apparently also by Hindenburg, that something tantamount to a demand for removal from his command was put forward, and that the Kaiser was obliged to admit the existence of some degree of justification for the remonstrances of his military leaders, but that dynastic considerations prevailed over those of a military character. It is extraordinary that such statements should have been permitted to appear in a German paper however obscure.

SHOWS BRITAIN'S GREAT WAR EFFORT

Washington, August 1.—Lord Curzon, member of the British war cabinet, gave figures Monday night in a speech, portions of which have been received here by wireless, which show the extent of the British war effort in the past year. Lord Curzon said that Great Britain had given no fewer than 7,000,000 men and that 5,000,000 Britons were today fighting in foreign theatres of the war. He also mentioned the casualties and presumed these figures to include the navy, they are taken as demonstrating the fact that the only troops in England today are men on leave and men in depots, either of the supply services or under going the reorganization of units.

FARMERS' MEETING AT DAYSLAND

We take the following report of a meeting of farmers at Daysland on Tuesday July 23rd, from The Daysland Press. This was an adjourned meeting from the one held in Wetaskiwin a few days previously.

"Rumors have been afloat for a fortnight or more to the effect that a meeting of farmers was to be held in Daysland on Tuesday afternoon of this week, but repeated enquiries from townspeople and others failed to bring definite information. Neither town officials, politicians, or those connected with farmers' organizations near by knew anything about it. No local newspaper had any news of it, and it was not until a small notice appeared in the Edmonton Daily Bulletin for several days, announcing the meeting here, and is said to have effected an organization, the principal business of the meetings held being to 'knock' the government and condemn its members to Hades, meaning the hot place. It was noticed, while the day was still young, that the farmers from that particular district were in evidence in town, and strangers became more numerous as the day advanced."

Shortly after the noon hour arrangements were made for the meeting to be held in what is known as the Little Church, no other building being available and no previous arrangements having been made. The building can only seat a hundred people, and quite a number had to stand, but it was especially noticed that a large majority of those present were strangers to Daysland, people who evidently arrived by means of some twenty or more automobiles from points beyond the Daysland district.

The meeting was called to order by A. N. Feroe, of Kingman. At his suggestion, Ingrid Stueve, of Donalds, was appointed chairman and a resolution committee of three men met one of whom resided in the Daysland district, was chosen in the same way.

Mr. Feroe spoke for some time on the general phases of cooperation among the farmers and the need of a new party to take care of their political needs, and then suddenly drew from his pocket a set of resolutions which he read, making some comment, and asked the meeting to pass them. The following are resolutions presented:

1. That the meeting desires to endorse the amendment offered by J. P. Molloy, M.P., to the Conscription Order-in-Council approved by the House of Commons on April 20th last, and which expressed regret that the proposed Order-in-Council of December 3rd, 1917, allowing the exemption of those whose "services are essential for promoting agricultural production" and declared that "The proposed Order-in-Council should be amended so that it would provide for the exemption of those actually and effectively engaged and so urgently needed in the production of foodstuffs upon the farms of Canada."

2. That this meeting desires to express regret that the Order-in-Council of April 20th which cancelled the exemptions granted farmers because of the needs of agricultural production did not follow the principles of the British War Power Act of 1914, with regard to exemption of men engaged in farming; which provided that all men so engaged who had already been exempted and who were medically rated below Grade I, would continue to be exempted, and the right to appeal against cancellation of exemption was granted to every man in the Medical Grade I who was a highly skilled agricultural worker, whose time was employed on the farm or in farm work, who was irreplaceable or essential to the cultivation of the farm."

3. That this meeting desires to express its emphatic disapproval of the action of the Western members of parliament who voted in favor of the Order-in-Council of April 20th, and thereby expressed the belief that in doing they placed the political advantage of the Union government above the interests of their constituents, their country and the Allied cause."

4. That it is the view held by this meeting that the Union government appealed to the country on December 17th 1917, the principle of selective conscription; and having received a majority of the votes allowed to be cast and counted in support of that principle, they cancelled the policy of selective conscription in disregard of the pledge specifically made and in defiance of the will of the people as expressed at the polls, and that therefore they do not hold office in accordance with the well recognized principles of the British constitutional government.

5. That in the opinion of this meeting the substitution of legislation by parliament is a violation of the principle of the control of government by the people through parliament, which is not warranted by the terms of the War Measures Act of 1914, if interpreted in the light of the intent of the Parliament which passed it, by any precedent occurring in any other of Britain's self-governing dominions; by the condition of the country or by Canada's responsibilities in connection with the war.

6. That in the opinion of this meeting the recent defiance of the Order of the Supreme Court of Alberta in presenting the Civil Power, by the military authorities at Calgary, constitutes such an attack upon the rights and liberties of the people as to be a grave danger to the peace, order and safety of the state.

7. That in the opinion of this meeting the only way to re-establish the confidence of the people in the maintenance of their rights and liberties is to dissolve parliament elected under false and untrue promises, made on the 15th, 1917, and provide for the election of a new parliament under conditions that will permit a free and full expression of the mind of the people through the members duly elected.

The chairman rose immediately Feroe had finished reading the resolutions, which, by the way, were not even submitted to the action resolution committee, and called for a vote on them. H. E. McDaniel, a well-known farmer of this vicinity, and assistant secretary of the Daysland Agricultural Society, asked if there was to be a discussion on these resolutions, and when invited by the chairman to state his belief that the resolutions which had been read were declared out of order by the meeting, and that the meeting affirmatively refused to accept them, he said that the resolutions which were in effect in Ottawa are in the best interests of Canada in their war measures. This amendment or motion was supported by a large number of the farmers present, there being a few notable exceptions, but the original resolutions were carried through by a large outside majority.

As the forcing of these resolutions through, so as to make them seem to represent the sentiments of the Daysland district, appeared to be the only purpose of the meeting, nothing further was done except to take up a collection to defray the expenses of the meeting, and the preparation of the Bulletin was present at the meeting.

The collection appeared to be a liberal one, but the amount was not made public. Incidentally Mr. Feroe gave out that it was the duty of every farmer to subscribe to the Edmonton Bulletin, which was the only daily paper in the Province supporting this movement. A special reporter of the Bulletin was present at the meeting.

As this meeting had received no further advertisement, no hand bills or posters were distributed, or other means used to announce it, there was naturally a good deal of curiosity locally, as to what men and what influences were behind it. This curiosity was allayed somewhat by the arrival in Daysland shortly after the termination of the meeting, of Rev. F. Woodworth, the newly chosen secretary of the Non-Partisan League in Alberta; accompanied by B. C. Moore, a Non-Partisan League organizer, and Rev. A. Irvine, the well known Calgary Socialist propagandist. They were travelling by auto and had been delayed in the trip from Wetaskiwin by rain and bad roads, but telephoned from Calgary that they would be at the meeting, and to hold the meeting for their arrival. This was not done and they gave out the impression that had they been present they would have objected to the passing of the resolutions.

On Tuesday evening what might be termed an indignation meeting was held in the office of Wylie & Orr, Limited when, after a general discussion, it was unanimously decided that the meeting held in the afternoon was a serious reflection on the town and district and could not be allowed to pass without a protest.

It was moved by Dr. H. S. Shirreffs, seconded by B. C. Pepper, and carried that we, the citizens of Daysland and district, do hereby repudiate the sentiments expressed at the so-called farmers' meeting held at Daysland on July 23rd, and deny that the resolutions submitted at that meeting received any local support or sympathy.

GET THE WAR OVER BEFORE TOUCHING TARIFF.—DR. CLARK

Calgary, August 1.—Recent events would go to show that before the year is out the government will need the advice of parliament, said Dr. Michael Clark, M.P. for Red Deer, in speaking to the press representative here.

Dr. Clark expressed himself as being strongly opposed to the Canadian government taking up the subject of imperial preference at the present time. He said that the government was elected to win the war and that it was its business, it had no mandate from the people to deal with post war problems.

"Let us first dispose of the enemy," said he, "and then it will be time to deal with tariff questions."

Dr. Clark has spent two strenuous months on the farm. He appears to be in perfect health and thanks God that he has a crop to work at. He left tonight for Hamilton and Ottawa.

THE WILHELMSTRASSE AND ITS EDMONTON PUPIL.

Edmonton Journal.—Mr. Edward Bjorkman, a New Yorker of Swedish descent, tells of the surprise with which he read in American papers some weeks ago a despatch from Germany by way of Amsterdam. It described how the Swedish government has apologized to Berlin on account of the pro-Ally utterances in London of the Swedish socialist, Hjalmar Branting.

Knowing German methods as I do, Mr. Bjorkman writes, and knowing also how eager Wilhelmstrasse is to produce the greatest possible amount of friction between the northern neutrals and this country, I decided to cable an inquiry to reliable parties at Stockholm, in this way an explanation was obtained which I believe to be authoritative.

The Swedish government has issued no communique about Mr. Branting's London interview and does not intend to do so. No official action has been taken regarding any apology to Germany.

Mr. Branting's exposure suggests that which The Journal was able to make last week with regard to a reported utterance of President Wilson. The similarity between the methods of the Wilhelmstrasse and the Edmonton House of Hate has been often remarked. Both stop at nothing that will produce international or domestic friction that is calculated to interfere with the allied war programme. The misstatement about the Swedish government was no more deliberate than that about President Wilson.

Have you considered the necessity of laying in your stock of winter coal now? Some people have.

We have had two to three teams on the go this last month, and have put in almost as much coal as in the regular winter season. But there are others.

The Government war demands in the coming months will tax the railways to the limit. Manitoba has to get her coal from Alberta this year.

We urge you to get in your coal now if at all possible. Somebody will come short next winter. Will it be you?

This Store Keeps Pace With The Times!

Our Merchandise Display at "The Fair" last week was "a surprise" to a great many, and yet it did not do justice to any of the departments represented.

We again announce, for the benefit of the new people in the country, that we fill Letter Orders from the catalog of any Mail Order house, located anywhere, to equal advantage and as much or more satisfaction to the purchaser, because our merchandise is of at least equal value and it is purchased with a knowledge of the requirements and consequently is better suited to the trade of the community.

Perhaps the best evidence is that our percentage of returned goods is practically nothing.

Now that the Autumn is approaching, when Fall and Winter supplies are in order, we hope those who live at a distance and usually buy mail, will take advantage of our unusually good roads, visit our store and make selections from the stock itself, instead of depending on description and illustration only.

PURITAN OIL STOVES

are the latest improved stoves, having the short combustion chamber, bringing the heat close up under the cooking utensil.

WHY PURITAN OIL STOVES ARE THE BEST

Greater Heat—They produce greater heat. This is secured by a more scientific balancing of air conditions and by better burner construction. Not only do we secure greater heat but cleaner heat—more free from odor by reason of certain refinements in manufacture.

Durability—The stove is of steel, well reinforced throughout. There are no castings to break and cause annoyance. The burner tubes are best quality brass. The combustion tubes inside the short chimneys are seamless steel drawn shells. The construction employed in both burner and combustion tubes keeps all parts much cooler than in other stoves. Longer wick life results.

More Economical—This greater heat efficiency is secured with a slow consumption of oil. One gallon of kerosene will keep one burner at cooking heat for twenty-four hours.

Positive Flame Control—The Puritan flame can be controlled positively, up or down, low or high, and will stay "where put." In other short-chimney stoves when you attempt to regulate from "high" to "medium" or "low" the flame will seem to respond, but in ten or fifteen minutes will come to "high" point again. The Puritan flame can be positively fixed at any desired height.

And There's Another Reason—The Prices are right.

HUNTINGTON COUNTY COUNCIL OF DEFENSE NAMES EIGHT CITIZENS AS DISLOYAL

HOW THEY DO THINGS IN THE UNITED STATES

(From the Huntington Herald, Indiana, U.S., July 29th, 1918).

The county council of defense having authorized the formation of the Huntington war chest designed to handle all the contributions countenanced by the Federal government, such as "Red Cross," "Y.M.C.A.," "K. of C.," "Civilian Relief," and other War Camp Activities, calls a mass meeting of the citizens of Huntington county at the court house (court room) at 8.00 p.m. Thursday, August 1st.

Reports of the progress that has been made to date will be heard. Full reports will be made by all committees and agencies employed in the campaign.

Anyone who has questions to ask should be there at that time as there is nothing in the work of the war chest which should not be known to every citizen of Huntington county.

Huntington County Council of Defense.

According to the provisions of a resolution which has been adopted by the Huntington County Council of Defense and approved by the Indiana state council of defense, any citizen who is delinquent in war work of any kind will be placed on a "black list" and will be served by the food and fuel administrators only after every loyal citizen has been cared for.

The resolution follows: Be it resolved that the various agents of the government in this war are instructed by the county council of defense and requested by it to afford immediate protection to those who are supporting the government of the United States, by such preference as is proper, in the discharge of their respective duties.

Eight citizens of Huntington county were listed under the resolution submitted by the council of defense. The names of the men follow: George Mayer, Union township, Joseph Charles, Lafontaine, Jasper Alexander, Bippus.

O. M. Huffman, Warren, Emanuel Wendel, Huntington R.D. George E. Miller, Andrews John H. Morrow, Union township David Murphy, Warren R.D. The council submitted this list to the county food and fuel administrators saying that these men had been certified as delinquent in war activities and that the administrators were requested, by the terms of the resolution, to supply all other citizens before taking care of the wants of these men.

The council passed the resolution unanimously, giving as the policy the following statement:

The federal government is using its great power in behalf of and for the benefit of its loyal citizens—those who support it and the movements found necessary and desirable to further the best interests at home and abroad, of our government during the war. Hence these agencies should not be used by or for those citizens who were loyal by word of mouth only. Further, that the activities of the government's agents, as exemplified in the food administration, fuel administration, the railroad agents, the post office and others, should first do all possible for the really loyal citizens who are giving freely of their time, energy, substance to war activities, and then, if any food, fuel, freight or passenger service remains, assist the other in as far as it is necessary to keep him alive—"as you would prisoners of war."

In accordance with the resolution, C. B. Williams, county fuel administrator, and Dr. G. M. O'Leary, county food administrator have sent notices to all dealers to serve these men last, and to care for the wants of all loyal Americans first.

Men are placed on this list only when, after an investigation, it has been found that they have willfully and without cause refused to donate to any fund, such as the Red Cross, the Y.M.C.A., the war chest, or others that they have not purchased any hands or war savings stamps.

The investigation consists of a thorough hearing before the protective committee of the council of defense, and before another committee. If the men failed to appear for the hearing, or were unable to give justifiable excuses, the names were certified to the council of defense and by them to the government officials.

Fourth, persons employed in domestic service.

Fifth, sales clerks and other clerks employed in stores and other mercantile establishments.

If a man of draft age registered in due course and waiting his selection for the draft he not employed in productive occupation, or if he be idle partially or completely, he must hold himself on immediate call for the army. The regulation applicable to idle registrants, to gamblers or all descriptions and employees of race tracks and bucket shops, to fortune tellers, clairvoyants, palmists and people of such vocations. If the Board of Appeal so judge, idlers may have their deferred classification withdrawn and their names will be reported to the Adjutant General of the State for military service. The only excuses for idleness and non-productive employment on the part of a man of military age are set down as sickness, reasonable vacation, lack of reasonable opportunity for employment, temporary illness, or other reasons which would be considered as excuses for idleness or non-productive employment.

Another aspect of the trade policy which the prime minister strongly insisted upon was that the government would have to see that our essential industries were strengthened and protected. He made it abundantly clear that the longer the war lasted, the worse would be the economic terms which Germany would obtain from England and her allies.

Premier Lloyd George was accompanied by Mr. Bonar Law. The departure was introduced by Sir Edward Carson and Sir George Terrell.

NO ROOM FOR LOAFERS

EVERYBODY HAS TO WORK.

The loafers and merely nominal workers of the North American continent have fallen upon evil days. Both in Canada and the United States, the law has now set its face severely against them. On July 1st the United States Federal Order, as drawn up by Provost Marshal Snook Crowder, went into effect. All men of draft age, that is between the ages of eighteen and fifty have now to be engaged in some productive employment or get into the army. This Federal order is being reinforced by anti-loafing laws enacted by State legislatures.

The Provost Marshal has defined productive and non-productive occupations and there is no escape for those who cannot be placed among the productive workers if they are of draft age.

First, persons engaged in the service of the food and drink or either in public eating places, including hotels and social clubs.

Second, passenger elevator operators, attendants at docks and footways, carriage operators and other attendants in clubs, hotels, stores, opera houses, office buildings, and bath houses.

Third, persons, including waiters and other attendants engaged and occupied in connection with games, sports and other amusements, except actual performers in legitimate concerts, operas and theatrical performances.

Fourth, persons employed in domestic service.

Fifth, sales clerks and other clerks employed in stores and other mercantile establishments.

If a man of draft age registered in due course and waiting his selection for the draft he not employed in productive occupation, or if he be idle partially or completely, he must hold himself on immediate call for the army. The regulation applicable to idle registrants, to gamblers or all descriptions and employees of race tracks and bucket shops, to fortune tellers, clairvoyants, palmists and people of such vocations. If the Board of Appeal so judge, idlers may have their deferred classification withdrawn and their names will be reported to the Adjutant General of the State for military service. The only excuses for idleness and non-productive employment on the part of a man of military age are set down as sickness, reasonable vacation, lack of reasonable opportunity for employment, temporary illness, or other reasons which would be considered as excuses for idleness or non-productive employment.

and the State Industrial Commission, under the State Anti-loafing legislation are combined to enforce the Federal Order and assign men where necessary to jobs of a productive character. It is estimated that 1,000,000 will be engaged in some productive occupation under the order of General Crowder. It is pointed out, however, that no man should give up his present employment, even though of the unproductive class, until he has either procured work at an essential industry or such work has been procured for him, as it is recognized that a man employed at non-essential work is better than a man not employed at all.

In Canada and loafing law has been in operation since early in April and every male person over sixteen and under sixty years of age, unless a bona-fide student or physically unable, or reasonably unable to find employment, must be engaged in some useful occupation.

In Canada the most essential industry at the present time is agriculture. Food production is a necessity of the summer of 1918, and the saving of the harvest is the necessity of the present moment. More than 55,000 able bodied men, in addition to the men already employed on the land, such as the Soldiers of the Soil and the boys and women of other organizations will be needed to save the crops this season. There is no room for loafers, no time for idlers, and there should be no money for tramps and mere pool-room sports.

W.C.T.U.

The following has been sent in by the Press Superintendent of the W.C.T.U.:

"At the Red Deer Fair this year, girls who came in with the showa tags on which was inscribed, 'we're out for a good time.' After noticing the class of girls who were disposing of the tags, no one would doubt the truth of the assertion. After the time had been spent for 25 cents they were surprised to learn to what class of people they were giving financial support. This writer brought the matter to the attention of one of the Fair officials, and also made it a point to see that the police were notified, but in the tagging business, and thinking they were supporting some good cause the visitors gave generously. If women had a representative on the fair management, it is doubtful if there would be any show for men only." Women are rather selfish perhaps, but they like to participate in the pleasures of their husbands, and they are not anxious for their sons or brothers to visit shows which are not fit for them to see.

Our nation stands for social purity, and although we do not wish to be critical, we do feel that in the future steps should be taken to see that we do not have a repetition of anything so disgraceful, and that the Red Deer Fair be a place where no man need apologize to take a lady.

TRAGIC STORY OF FINAL CAPTURE OF TOWN OF SOISSONS

NO CALL FOR QUARTER ON EITHER SIDE AS PRUSSIAN GUARDS MET AMERICAN VOLUNTEERS

London, Aug. 1.—Yesterday was a day of sheer hard in-and-out fighting on the American front telegraphs Reuters's correspondent on the front north of the Marne. He says that the final capture of Seringen by the Americans was an especially creditable achievement.

Since the Americans took the village on Monday the Germans made no infantry attack on the place, but kept up a constant artillery and machine gun fire to drive them out. This continued all day on Tuesday and toward evening the enemy seemed to think that the spirit of the defenders might possibly be broken and they then began to emerge from the Neales forest in a way that seemed to forecast a fresh attempt to take the village. Of the fighting which ensued the correspondent writes:

FIGHT TO A FINISH

The Americans after three days of to and fro fighting through villages had learned subtlety and were determined to have a real fight to the finish. They consequently withdrew as if retiring from Seringen and the Germans crept down from their high ground convinced they had their opponents beaten. Additional German troops came pouring in until the town was occupied as it never had been before.

IN AN AMERICAN TRAP.

But as the new occupants began to organize their defenses they found that bullets appeared to be coming in from three sides of the village, and it was not long before they discovered that the Americans while withdrawing from the front of the town had commenced an encircling movement on both sides, thus forming a ring almost completely round it.

SOME TRAGIC FIGHTING.

Then some tragic fighting. The Prussian Guard had voted not to surrender and their opponents were just as anxious to see the thing through. It was an affair of small arms, but the Americans proved to be the better shot and slowly picked off men here and there. Then the Americans began to advance and slowly their encircling ring closed round the village and the defenders saw their doom approaching they doubled their fire, but still the Americans came unflinchingly like a storm or the unavoidable stroke of fate.

CLOSED WITH THE FOE

"When the Americans reached the precincts of the village their fire raged and with one yell they closed with the foe. The force upon suddenly gave place to a strange sl-lence as men grappled with men. Only the clash of steel on steel and the groans of the stricken could be heard. "The issue never was in doubt for an instant. At this kind of fighting the American is more than equal to any Prussian guardman, and in a little more than 10 minutes all was over. Except for a few German prisoners every German in the village had breathed his last. Such was the final capture of Seringen.

"During the night the enemy twice attempted to retake Seren, but each time he was repulsed with heavy losses. Then he made a fierce assault on Meury, east of Seringen, which was piled with dead which he had left there the day before when every man defending it died at his post. There again the enemy was unsuccessful, though not until steel had crossed steel in the big farm yard, and the heaps of German slain had been debilitated in the ruins about it.

NO CALL FOR QUARTER.

This was classic fighting, indeed, man to man and the better to win. There was no call for quarter. The pride of the professional soldier was up against the pride of the free man, both preferring death to surrender.

"Later in the morning the fighting extended still further eastward and in every case the Germans who attacked were annihilated. Later came the attack on Seringen and an attempt at the same time to drive the allies from Hill 187 west of Seringen.

"There for the first time since the allies crossed the Ourcq the Germans may be said to have definitely taken the offensive.

"All through the day's fighting the enemy's airplanes attempted in the most daring manner to assist in the battle. Early in the morning six enemy planes succeeded in penetrating as far as the La Croix Blanche farm, near La Perre forest. They swooped down close above the roads in the valley and fired upon the allied troops.

HOLD AT ALL COSTS

"Members of the Prussian Guard who were taken prisoners, state that their orders were to hold the line at all costs and well they obeyed. All three of their battalions apparently were in the line on this memorable day, which ended everywhere in victory for the allies, although there was no great gain of ground.

"During the following night ground near Seringen was captured by the Americans. The advance will make it possible for the troops in this sector to join hands with the conquerors of Seren and Seringen."

RESTRICTIONS ON CONSUMPTION OF PORK REMOVED.

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—The Canada Food Board has removed, temporarily, restrictions on the consumption of pork. Such action has been made possible by the pork production and conservation efforts in Canada and the United States and the food board's order, passed Thursday, provides that pork, including bacon and any part of the carcass may be served at any time in public places operating under Canada food board license.

In making this announcement, the food board stated that, as a result of conservation measures and increased production net exports of pork from the dominion have been increased by 125,000,000 pounds per annum, which is an increase of 671 per cent over a five year pre-war average.

FRENCH TAKE SOISSONS

ALLIES MAKE SPLENDID GAINS

August 2.—Soissons has been retaken by the Allies and the valley of the Crise has been closed.

With the French Army in France, Aug. 2.—The Germans are in retreat on all sides of the salient between the Aisne and the Marne. On the west the French and British troops continuing their push of Thursday, have reached the valley of the Crise, a little river which joins the Aisne at Soissons.

The Germans therefore have abandoned the whole of the Chaudun plateau between the Coevres and Crise valleys.

This ground has been a desperately disputed battlefield for weeks. It had been swept by the German heavy guns from the north of the line and from the east and was probably the hottest sector of the whole battlefield.

In the center the French cavalry are in the big woods called the Forêt de Nesles, a mile northeast of Forêt-Tardouin. On the allied left, the troops are in touch with the forests of the Ardennes, two miles north of Villers-Agron.

The Germans disregarding the military considerations which counselled frank acceptance of defeat and rapid retreat many days ago in order to spare their men for a new attempt, have been obliged to accept the inevitable and are falling back, probably to the Vesle river.

The German crown prince's offensive on the Marne has failed as signally as that of Von Kluck in 1914, and the last word is with the allies.

IMPORTANT GROUND GAINED.

Paris, Aug. 2.—The ground won yesterday north of the Ourcq has considerable value. It is a long spur about 600 feet high forming a watershed between the Crise and the Ourcq and is a valuable observation point. From it the Germans prevented the allies from seeing the Crise, while they overlooked the ground won from them on the Ourcq. The allies stormed not only the summit but the northern slopes of this territory.

As a consequence they can now maneuver safely in the Ourcq region. In addition they have a view behind the front. Harbours plateau where the enemy still clings along the Soissons-Chateau-Thierry road and that strong position, difficult of attack frontally, can now be turned from the north through Ville-Montmore and from the south by way of Hill 205.

J. A. Latimer was in the city over the week-end on his way back to E.C. from Ontario. He returned from Australia some time ago and will make his home in E.C. for the present. He reports millions of bushels of wheat in Australia, stored there owing to want of ships to carry it to Europe. He also reports a scourge of rabbits again in that country. He showed where ranchers killed as many as 10,000 rabbits in one night. They are killing them for their skins. He contends that a factory for canning rabbits would pay wonderfully well, as the Australian rabbit, unlike our rabbit, is as tasty as chicken to eat, and the supply is practically inexhaustible, as they breed every six weeks. Mr. Latimer, who is looking particularly well, called on a number of his old friends in Red Deer before leaving for the west.

BALMER'S SINGING KAFFIRS TO COME TO CHAUTAUQUA.

They will be here on Monday Night Next.

Twenty-five years ago J. H. Balmer went into Africa as a member of the Colonial engineers from London. He had studied in the Royal Academy of Music and he became interested in teaching little boys of the Kaffir tribe how to sing. He organized what he called his singing band. With these boys he gave concerts through the white centers of Africa. Later he appeared before the different governors of the provinces. Right Hon. Cecil Rhodes heard them. They were sent to London and appeared before Queen Victoria. A reception was given in their honor on the steps of the House of Parliament. They sang before 50,000 people in London. Through the influence of Bishop John H. Vincent, they came to this country and sang at Chautauqua Lake, dividing honors with President Roosevelt on the same program.

With younger boys, who have replaced the older ones, the company today is the most unique and remarkable on the Chautauqua platform. Just prior to the opening of the present Chautauqua season, the entire company arrived in America after an 11,000 mile trip to Africa and return. They appear in native costumes and their program is a song and story demonstration of life in Africa. They appear on the evening only of the last day at Chautauqua and constitute one of the biggest attractions of the week.
